

2012 R.S. Means Publications

The Builders Exchange of Kentucky is pleased to announce that we are continuing as a retail outlet for R.S. Means cost data publications.

As a service to you, we invite you to place your order for one or more R.S. Means annual cost data publications at a savings of 20% of the R.S. Means unit price. Your cost will be the unit price less 20% shown as the Builders Exchange price. You can place your order by fax, mail, or calling us directly at Builders Exchange.

Your order will be filled by R.S. Means and sent directly to Builders Exchange, at which time we will invoice you for the amount due. We have been assured that orders placed by Builders Exchange will receive priority handling. The 2012 publications will be available for delivery beginning this month.

If you are not familiar with R.S. Means publications, please stop by Builders Exchange and look them over or go to www.rsmeans.com for more information. R. S. Means is the most widely used cost data and estimating publications throughout the United States and Canada.
